FOREWORD

Building men and their minds is a construction job more magnificent and meaningful than any space platform or skyscraper. More delicate and intricate too. Bosco is in the construction business heart and soul. The men involved are professionals dedicated to the adventure of complete education.

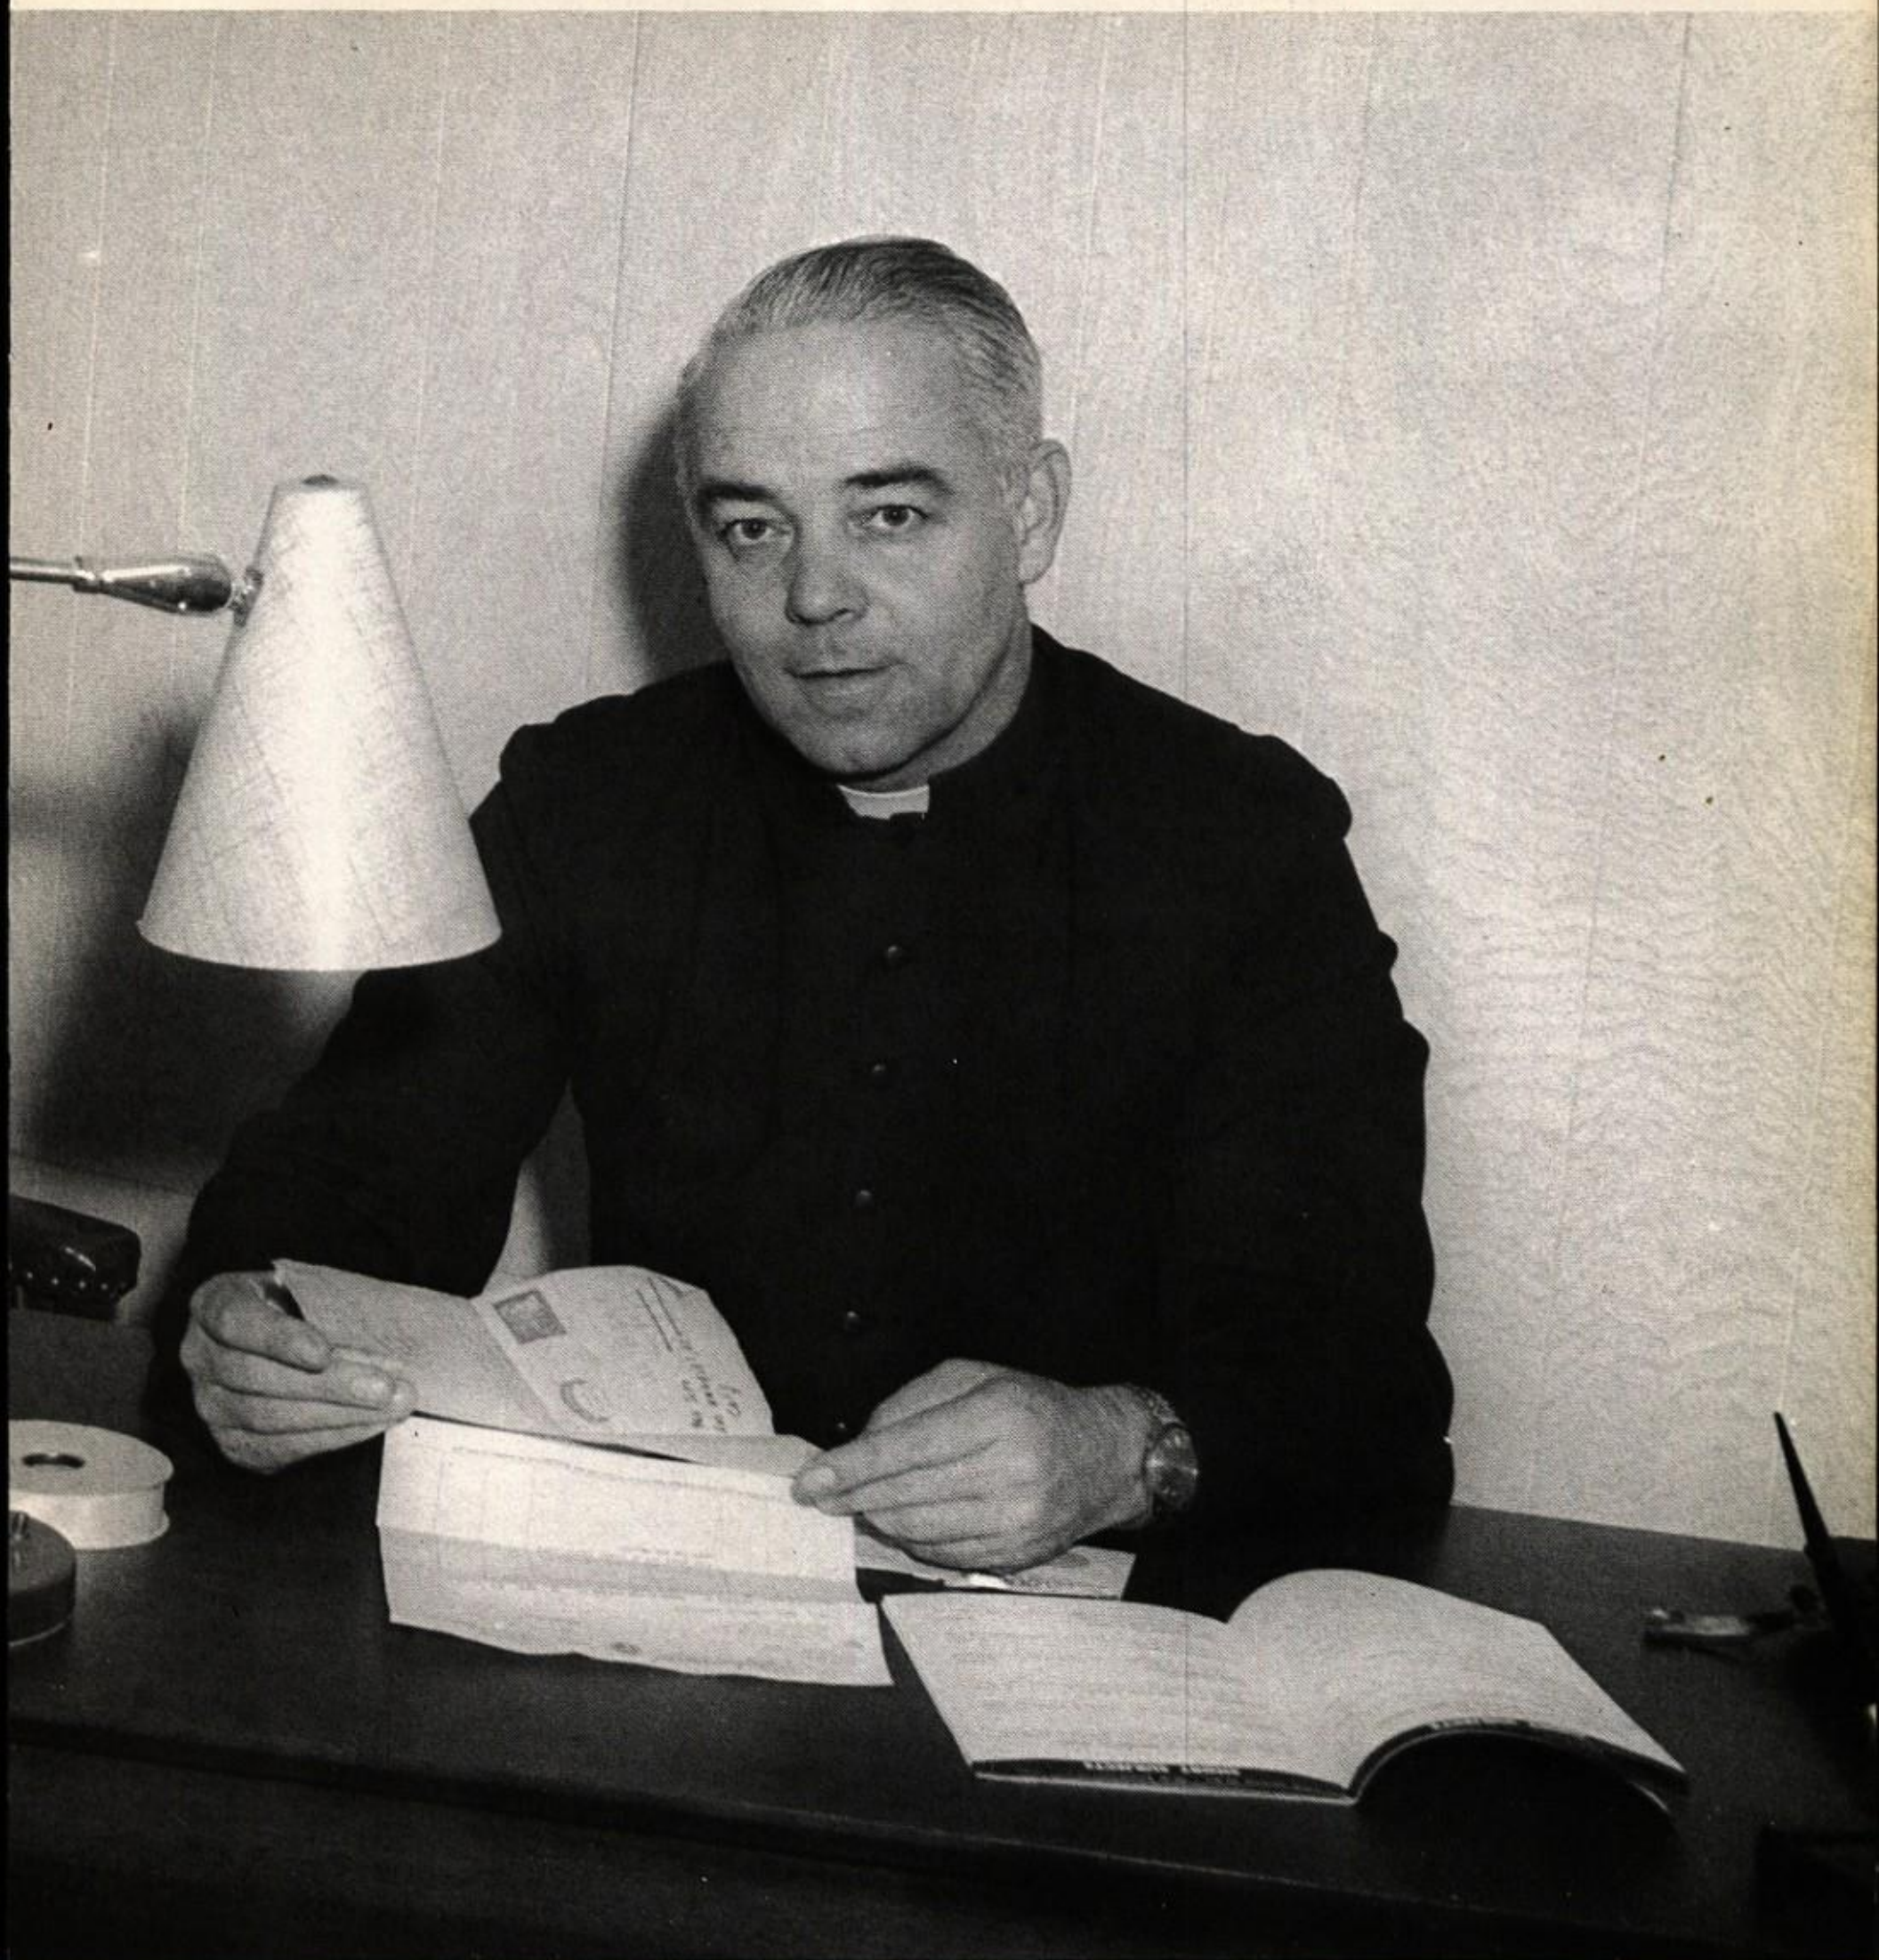

Like any successful construction firm, Bosco uses idea men, architects, engineers, foremen, and personnel management to get the "big idea" off the boards and into reality--to make each boy the best man he can be.

The men on the Bosco construction team, however, go by other names: counsellor, teacher, principal, coach.

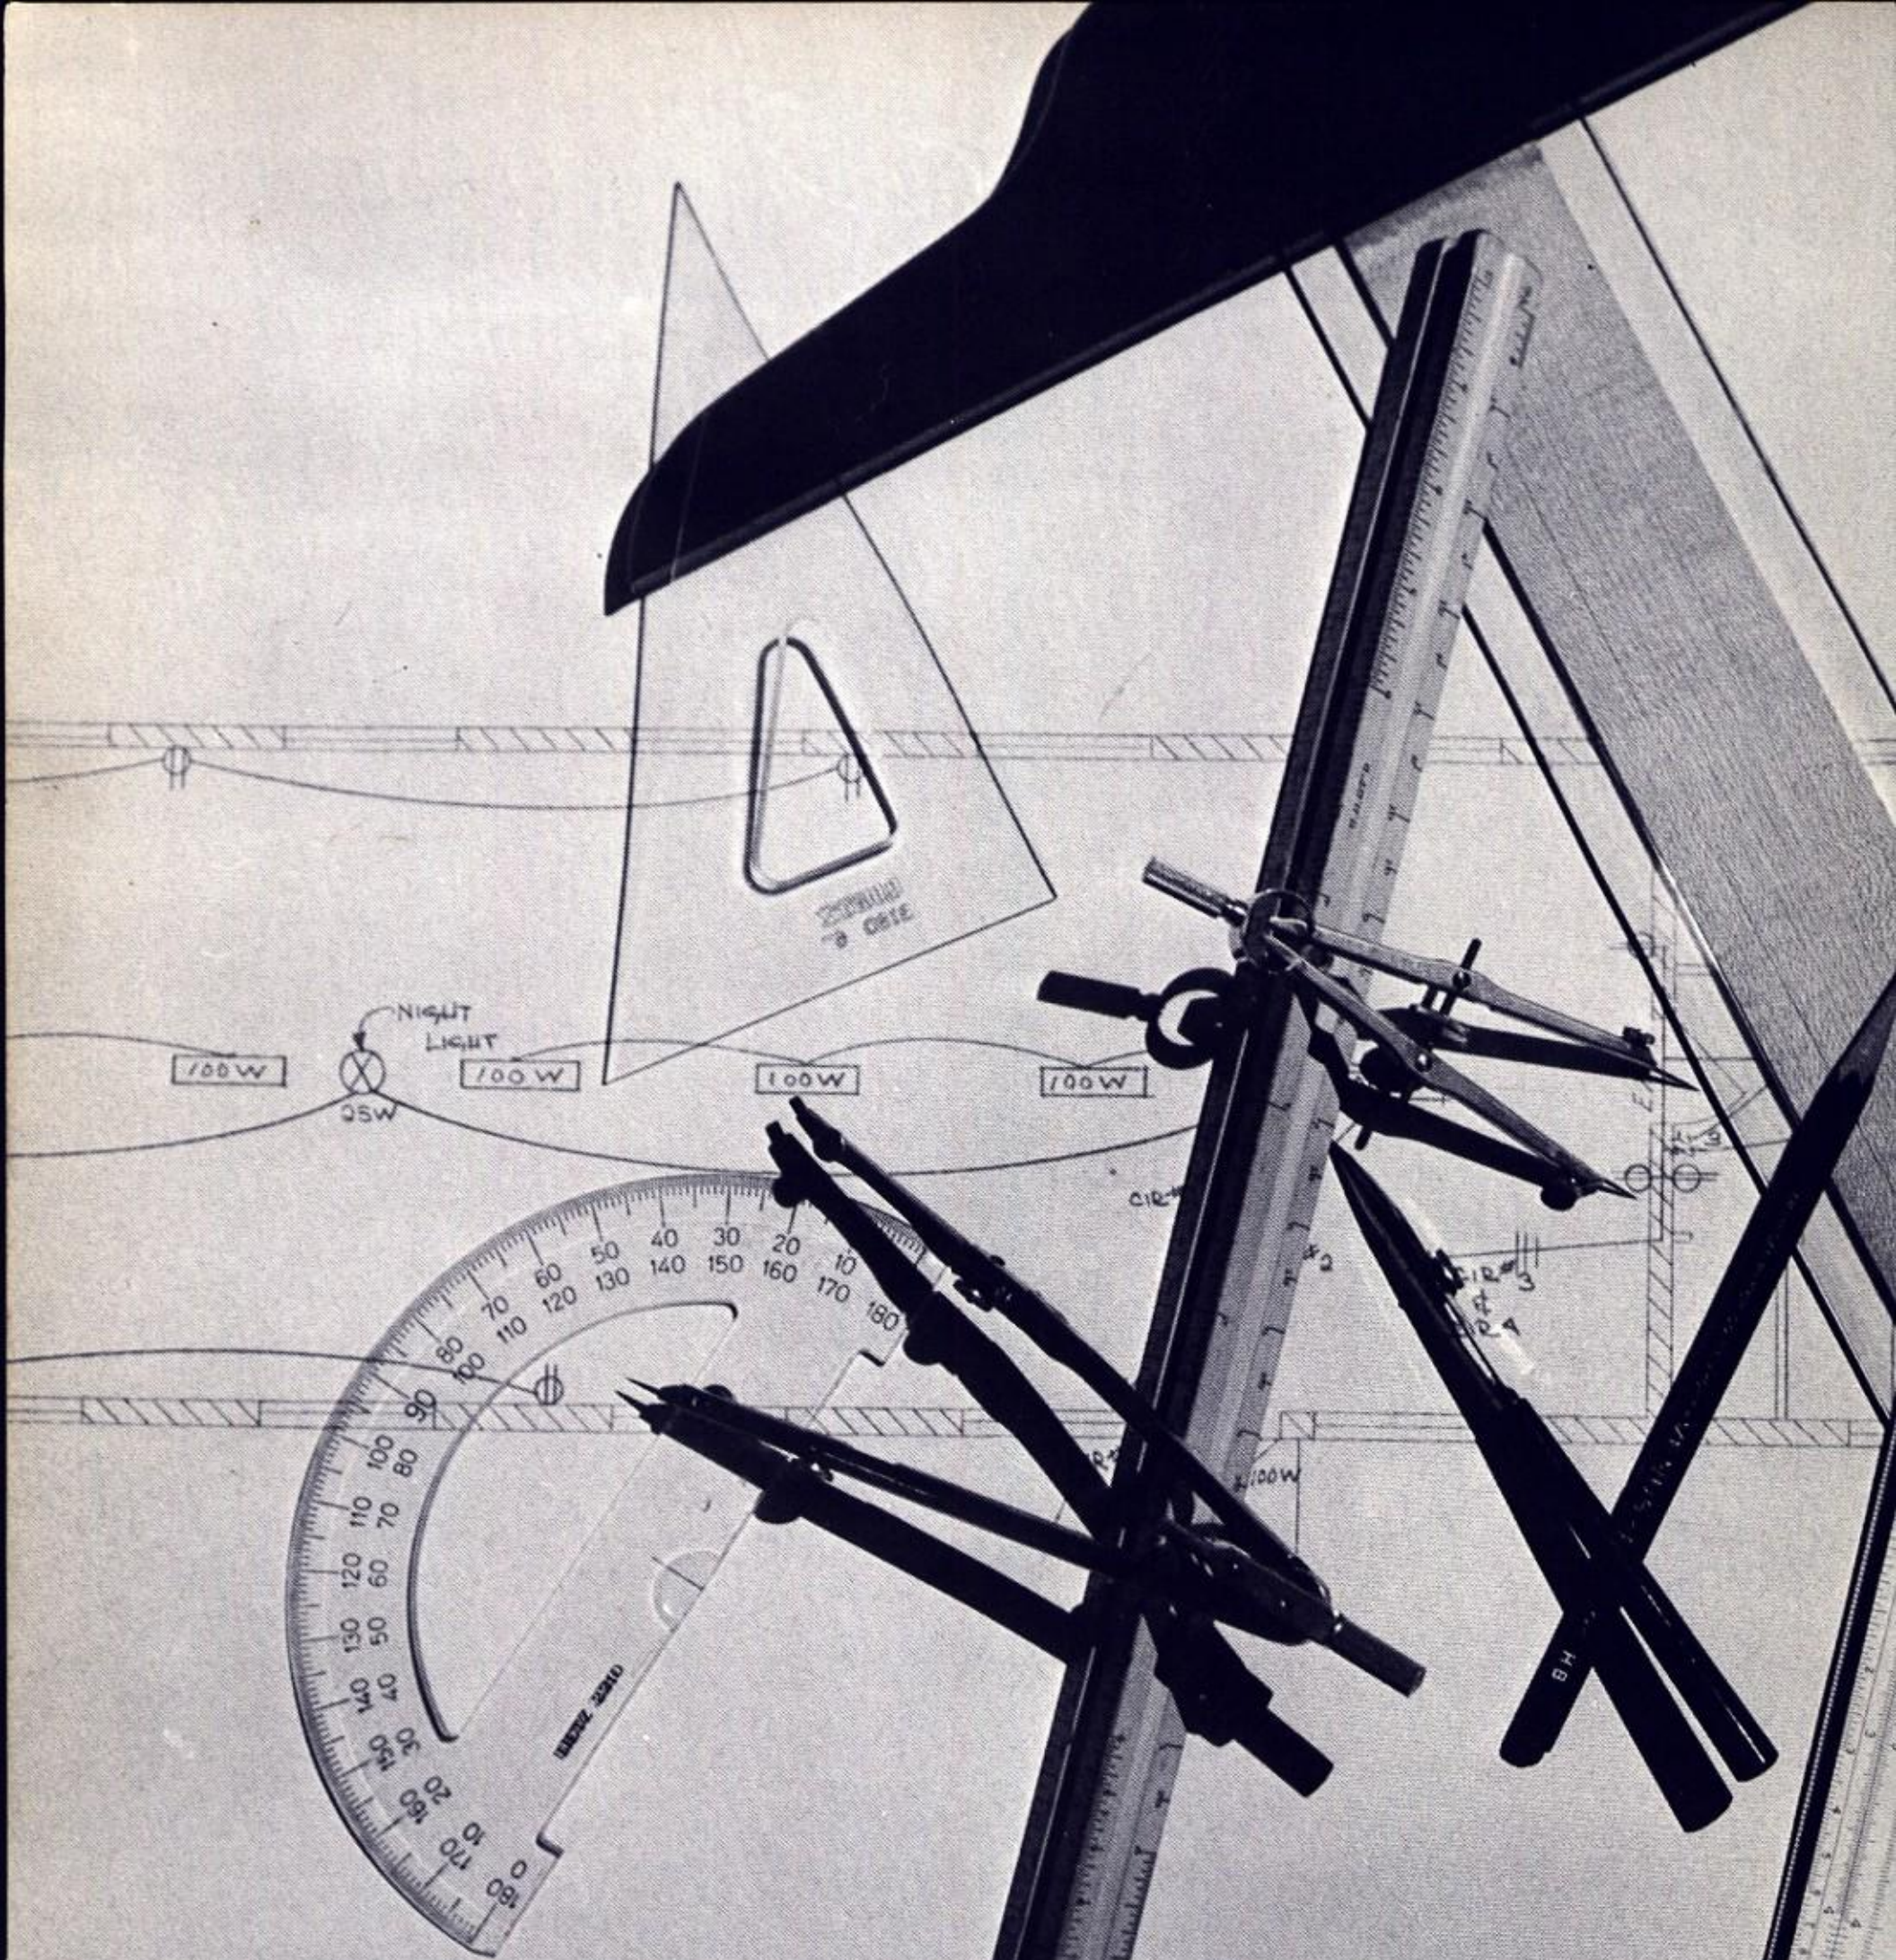

DEDICATION

To you, Father Malloy, our sincerest thanks. Over the years as principal from 1954 to 1958 and again from 1963 to 1965, you have been architect, foreman and laborer in the building of men and minds here at Bosco. In gratitude for this we pledge to you, as newly appointed superior of the Salesian Province of St. Andrew-western United States and Canada—our enduring support and good will.

And to you, a master-builder, we dedicate the 1966 BRAVE.

FACULTY

"Building men and their minds . . ."

May 24, 1965

My dear graduates:

My final message is really yours.

The theme that you have so graphically expressed through this '66 edition of THE BRAVE speaks to the point.

You came to Bosco as mere boys. You have undergone a process of evolution which, with robust precision, you have chosen to label: "men under construction."

I trust that Commencement will in no sense put an end to it all. True, the building appears roughly complete; don't let yourselves be deceived! The structure MAN takes a lifetime. And when you receive your copy of this annual, a lifetime is precisely what lies ahead.

Whatever you do, don't stop constructing now!

Show your gratitude and allegiance to Bosco by adding to the building at once . . . gradually supplying all the delicate finishing touches that, paradoxically, the hard knocks of the open world ahead will inevitably provide.

God build with you!

DON BOSCO'S WAY

Rapport is another word
for Boscoism.
It means reaching out to the student.
The boy
is more than a subject-learner,
and the educator,
more than a subject-teacher
in this way of Don Bosco.
Salesian rapport
is this something more.
It is the unspoken agreement that underlying the daily human struggle toward knowledge with its breakthroughs,
disappointments,
disciplinary skirmishes
there is a firm,
Christ-like,
teacher-student friendship,
so firm, that disagreements and failures and time itself never really damage it.
Friends of this make don't have to look alike or think alike or even meet often . . .
they just have to be friends.

DAVID MELBOURNE

In this age of modern life-giving medicine, we never stop to think about death. We, the Seniors of St. John Bosco, could not help but ponder over this when last October our classmate, David Melbourne, was killed in a traffic accident. This made each of us realize how very short and uncertain life is. Now we strive to make our lives more meaningful, more useful to ourselves and to others, in constant preparation for what lies beyond.

Dave, who was born on August 30, 1948, to Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Melbourne, was a graduate from Our Lady of Perpetual Help Grammar School in Downey. He enrolled as a freshman at Pius X High School but transferred to Bosco the following year. He was to graduate this year as a member of the class of 1966. Dave will always be among our treasured memories of St. John Bosco High School.

TIM CALDWELL rounds the end and eats up yardage against Verbum Dei. With a few exceptions most of Bosco's touchdowns came after long drives accomplished by a very efficient offense.

THE BRAVES hit the field at half time after an inspiring pep talk during the Homecoming game against Verbum Dei.

Yes sir!

In the longest six seconds of the year, the Braves snuff Verbum Dei and revive the unconscious crowd for the homecoming victory.

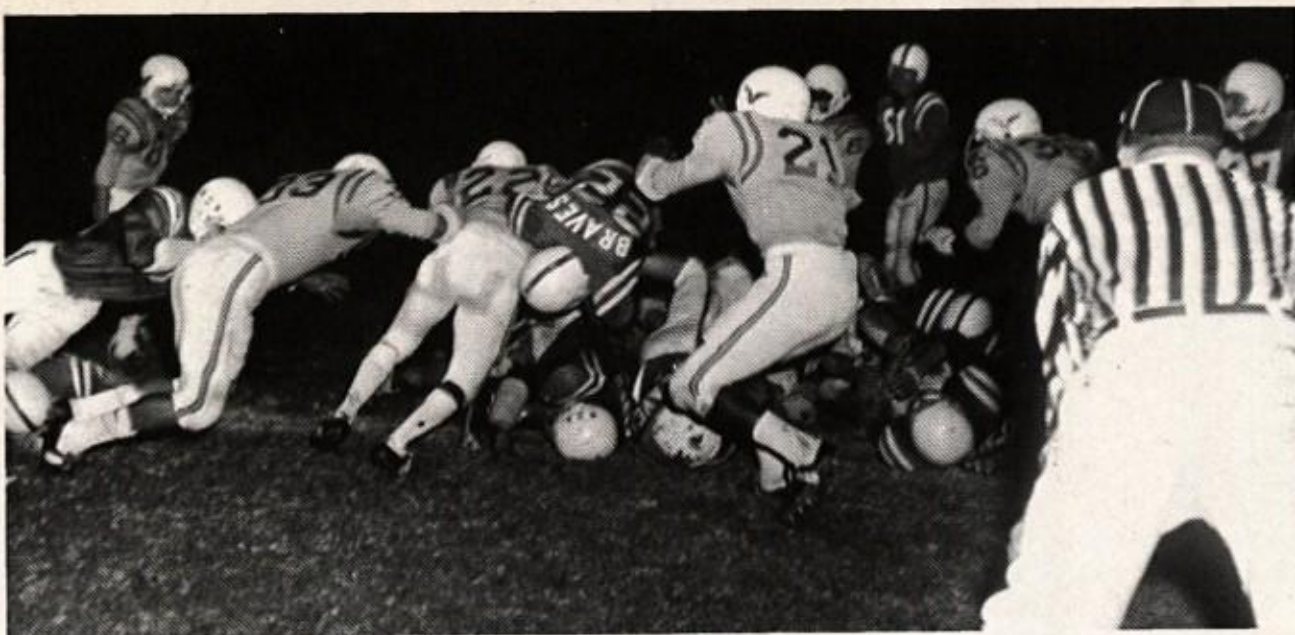

Teamwork? Mike Vercic (71) appears ready to spring crunching tackle on teammate Jerry Federico (22), but contact fanatic Mike saved pleasure for unfortunate Verbum Dei pursuer.

COACH Buckley in action.

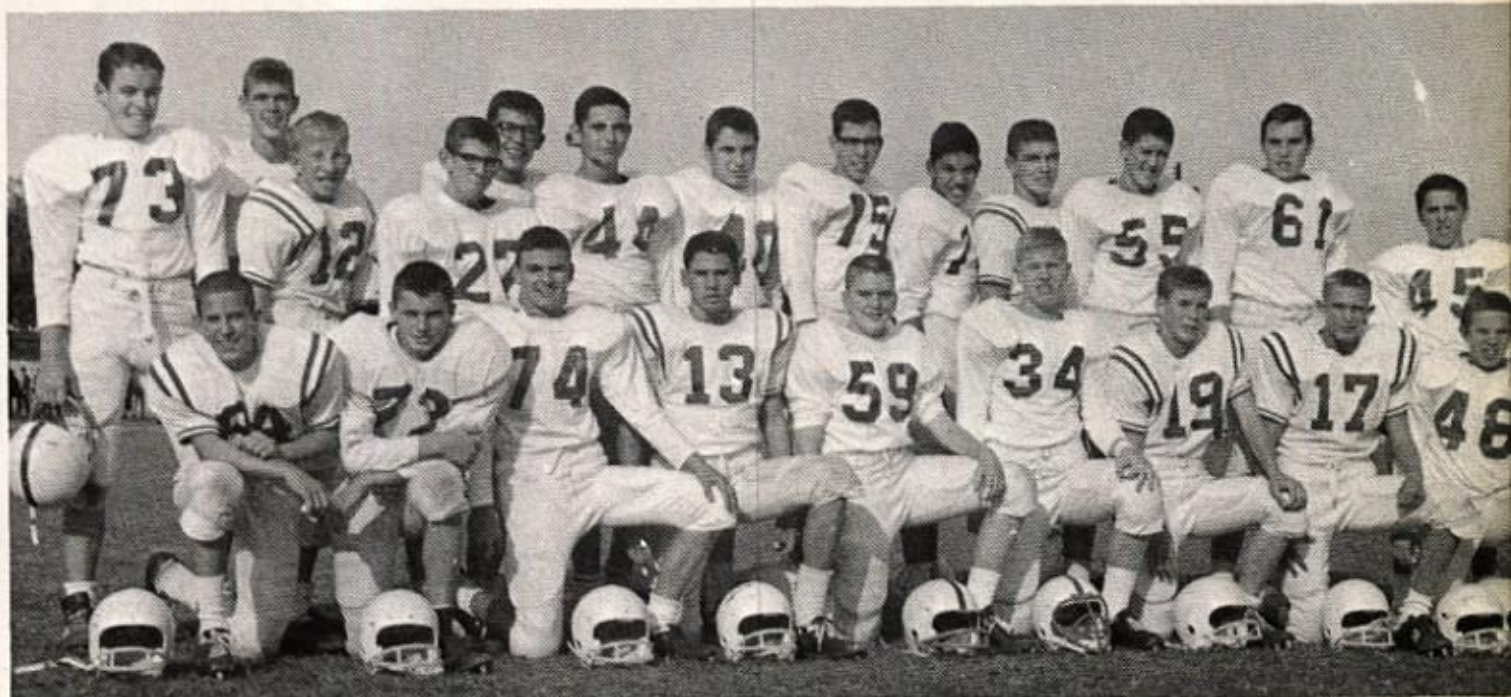

Joe Meyers lowers the boom on an Eagle line-backer and in doing so clears the way for a fine running performance by Larry Haske.

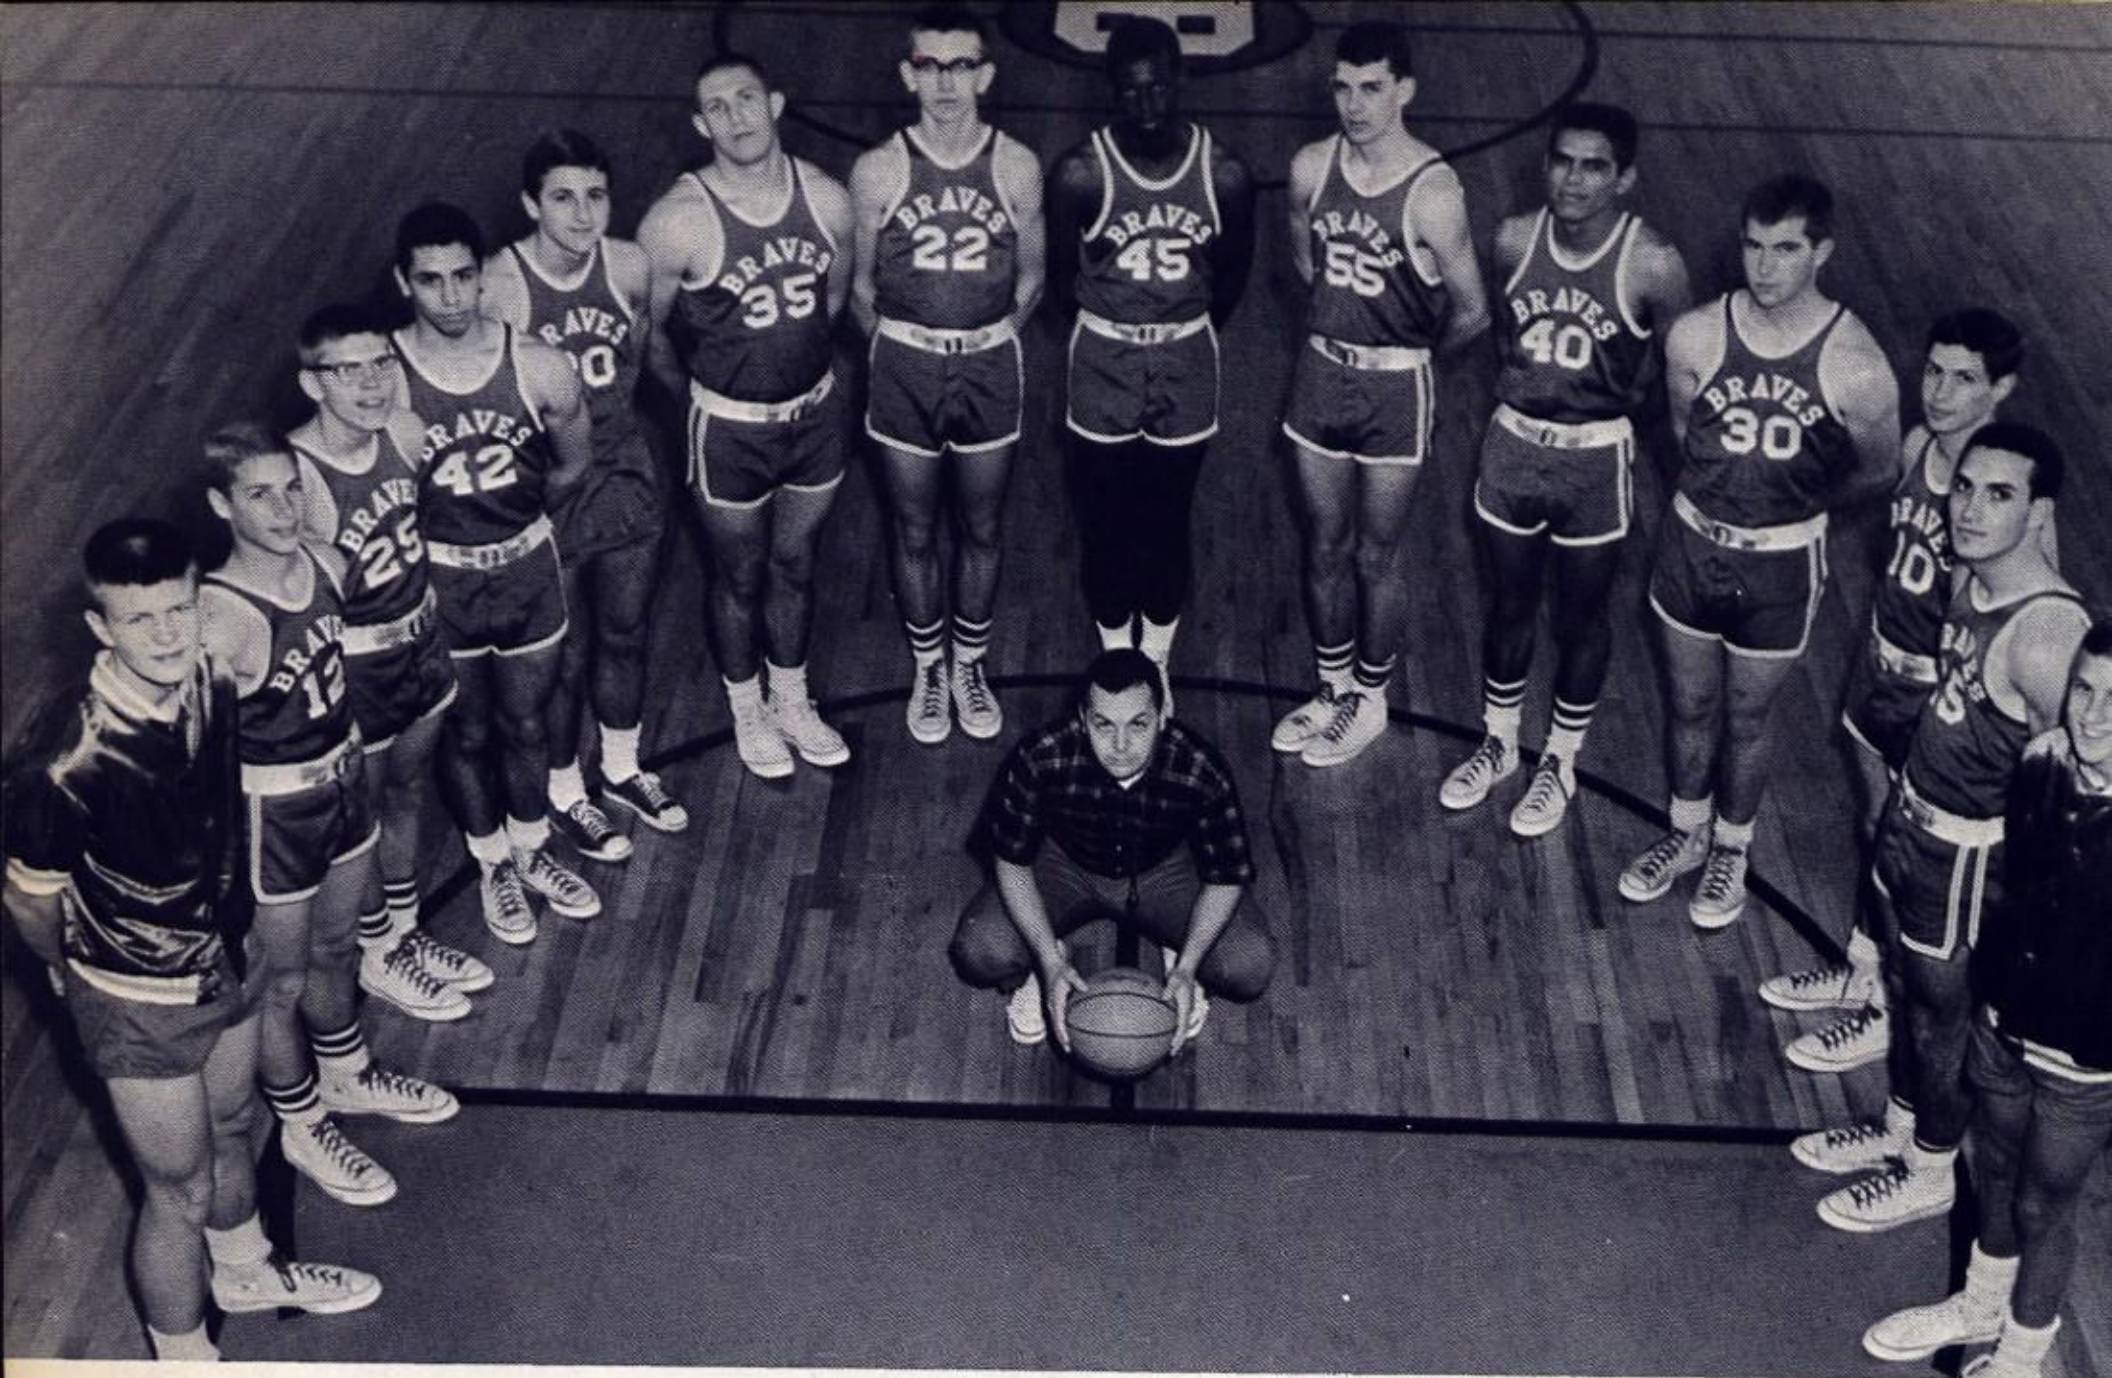

Larry Haske executes a perfect straight-arm, stopping cold a would-be tackler from Verbum Dei.

Starting Forward Pat Peters

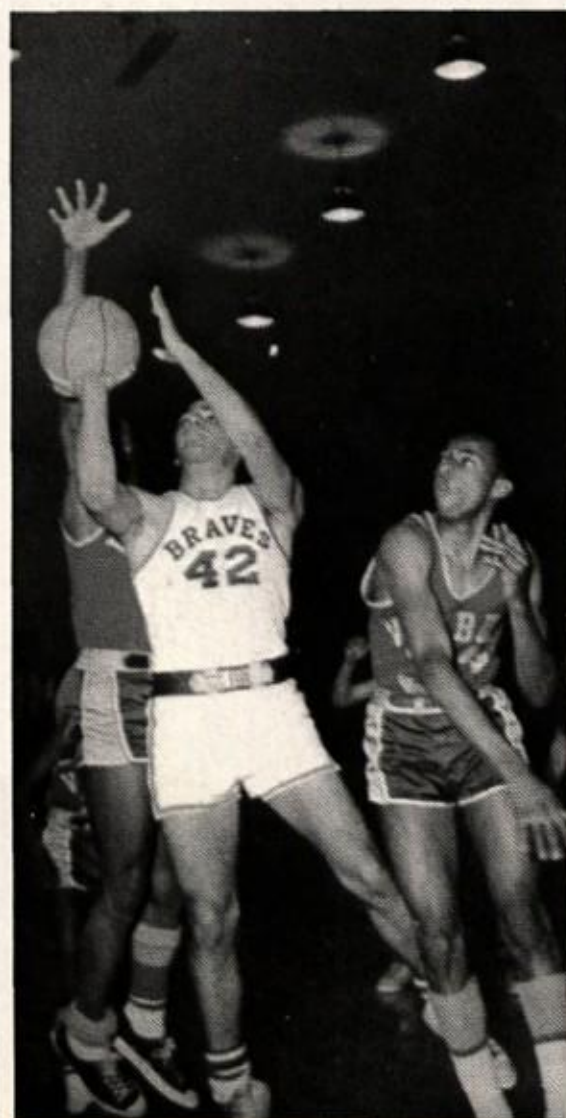

Starting Guard, Ed Gonzales, could not make it for the pictures because of a torn ligament suffered in the Mater Dei game.

Ed Brzezinski outruns the pack for an easy lay-up against Tech.

"Whistle while you work," beams Alez Pasquiera, enjoying his favorite function in basketball here against Verbum Dei.

A step ahead but an arm behind, Don Brzezinski reaches for a lay-up while a desperate Verbum Dei defender rushes to stop him.

Two fantastic centers, Jim Dade and Tom Banks, put out a strenuous effort to control the tip in the first Bosco-Servite face-off.

Mr. Jacobs muscles into position for the rebound in the comical coaches quarter of the Angeles League Carnival which was held at Bosco.

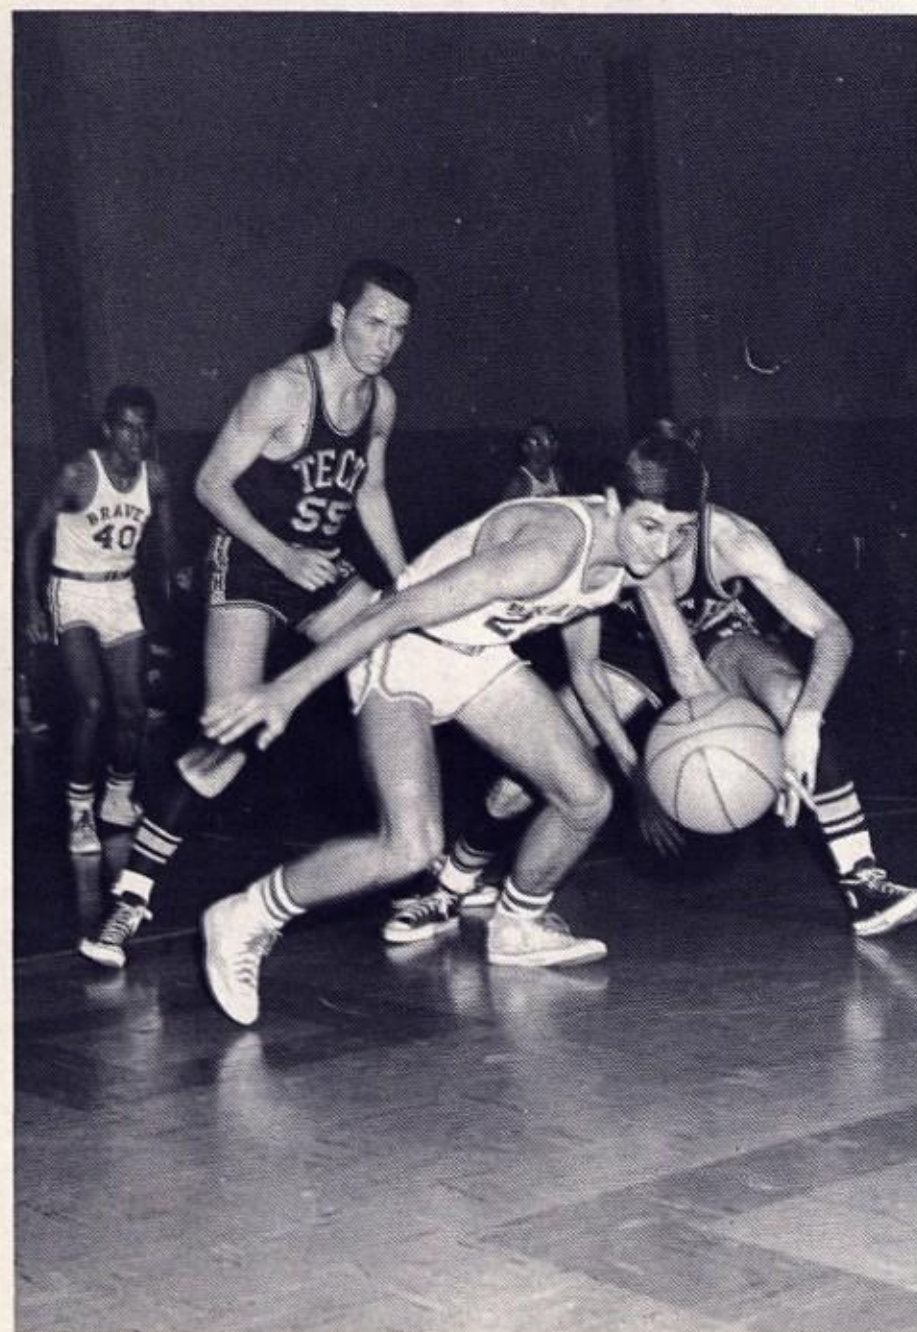

In the last seconds of wreckless pursuit, Pete Koot springs for the valuable loose ball before Techmen close in.

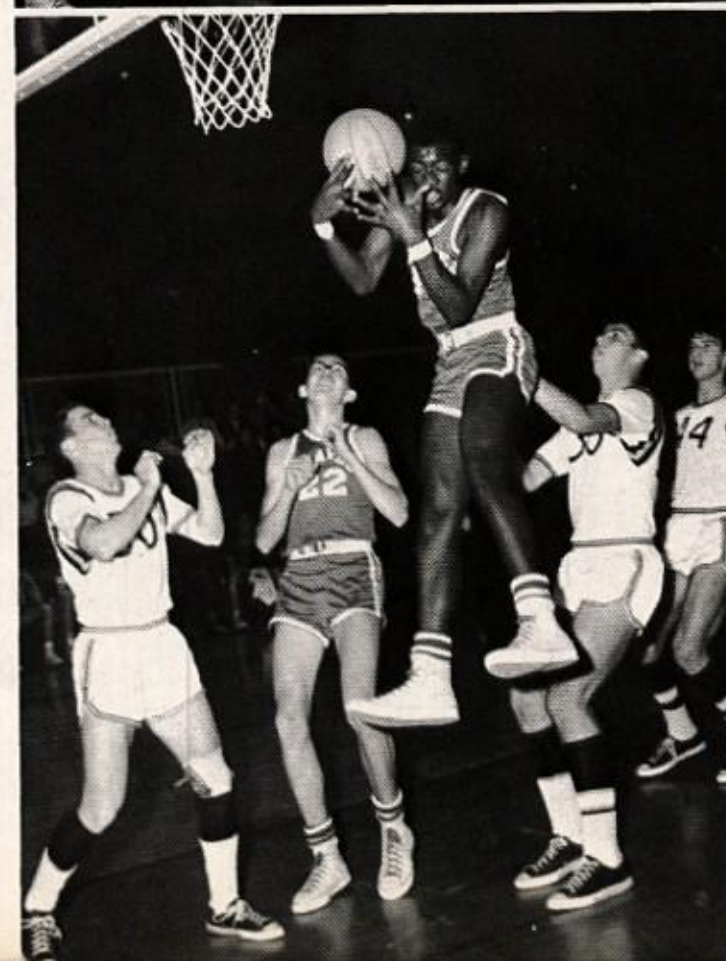

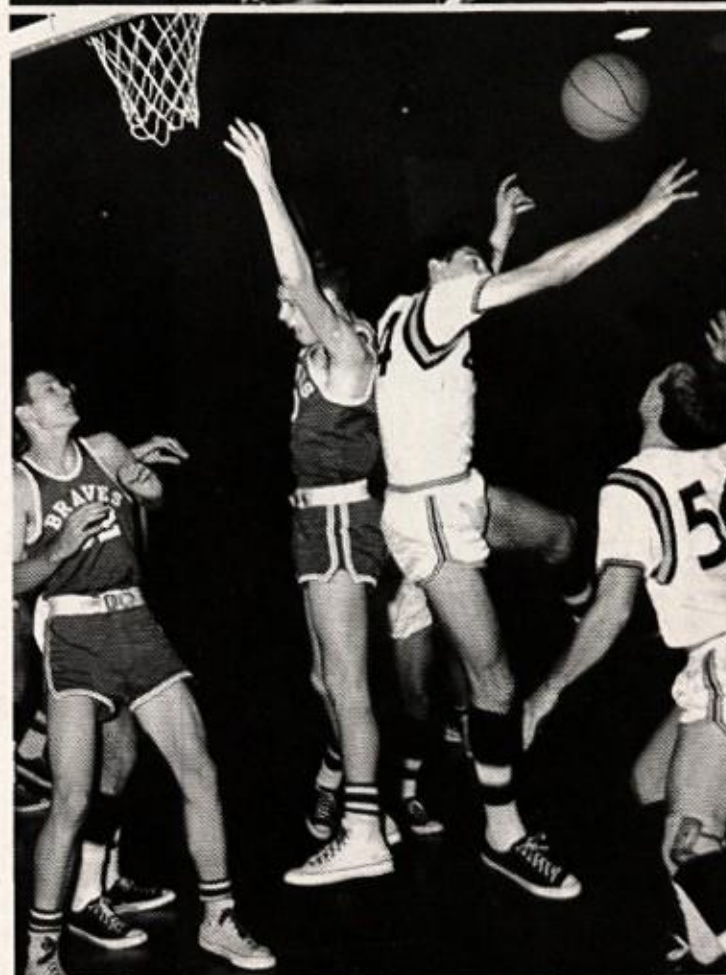

Coach Wenzelberg discusses strategy in a tight situation.

High kickers easily bound over the hurdles, but Mike Carney and Mike Cotter finished second and third respectively.

Phil Cohea can't believe the speed of a Verbum Dei sprinter as he gallops down the track in the 100 yard dash.

Louis Leon executes tricky footwork against St. Bernard defender, while Pat Brush anticipates successful outcome.

Action ceases as captain Ed Almada, in a rare moment of seriousness and concentration, hurls mounting sinew in penalty kick.

SWIM TEAM

The race is on and participants strain to cover the greatest possible distance with the dive.

Phil Guy, swimming manager, passes out practice floats.

A beautifully executed backwards flip shows why our swimming team was one of the best.

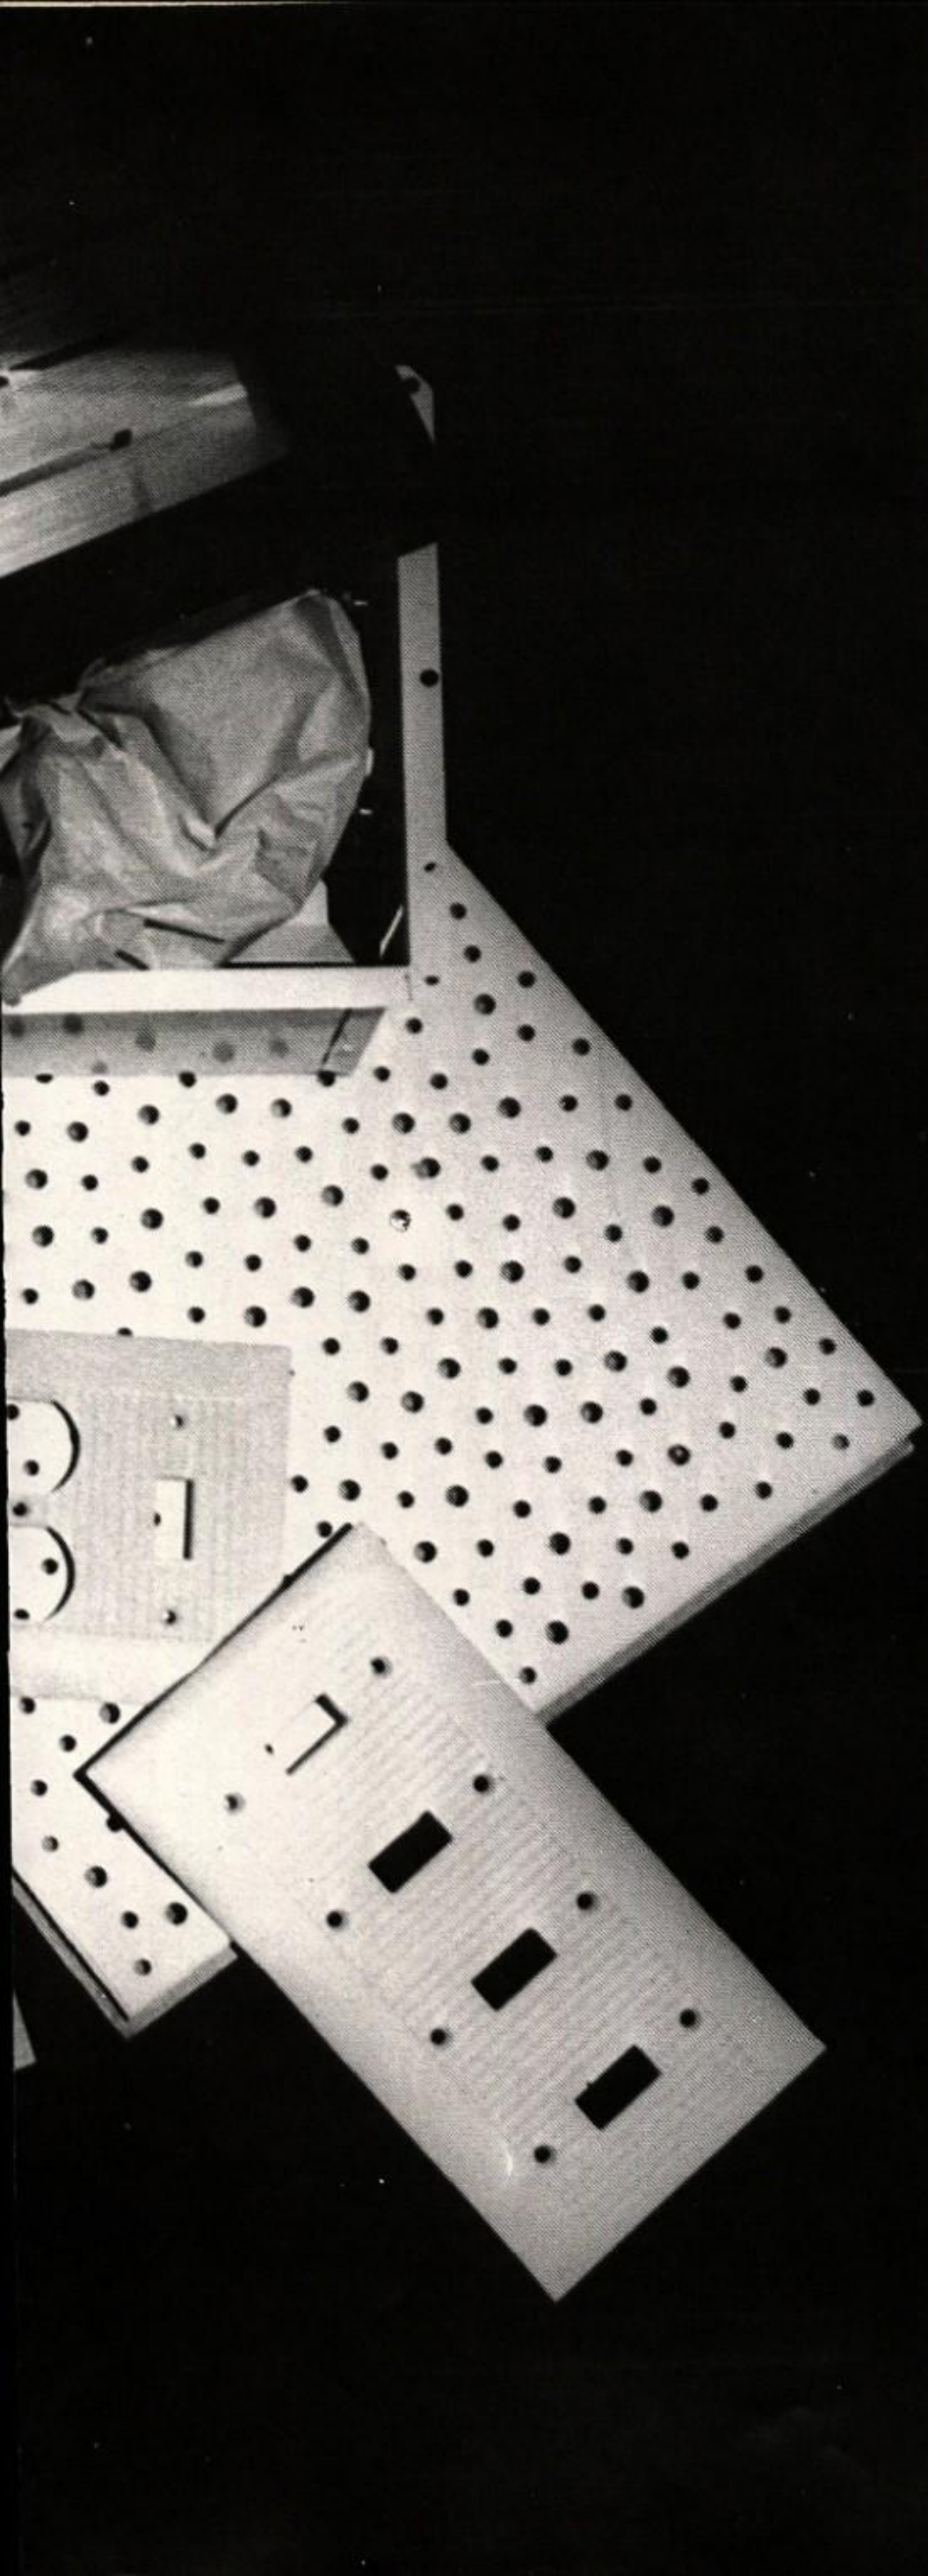

CYO

Could you lead five eighth graders to a championship season? Well, that crisis faced Brother Jack seven months ago, and after s shrug of his shoulders, he faced it. Amazingly, the CYO team won game after game, including first place in the St. Alphonsus Tourney. Talented John Flores led the team in scoring, and in the end, the squad produced a 20-5 record.

WEEKLY NOOSE

Since its humble beginning four years ago, when Mike Herbold was the creator, editor, and staff, the Weekly Noose has made tremendous advances. This year Marcus Edwards felt it a personal obligation to continue the traditional news and gossip sheet, and with the help of a talented staff converted the Noose into a top-rate paper.

If you're searching for something traditional on the SJB campus, just turn to the Blue and White. It is the oldest newspaper; by customs, the staff is composed of seniors; the moderator, Fr. Joseph McDonnell, is the veteran of the faculty. The quarterly editions are professionally printed and intentionally a summary of past events for keepsake purposes.

PRESS

Sitting, Left to Right: R. Fischer, K. Hoggard, L. Thatch. Standing: G. Chulune, R. Simms, Fr. Dan Tavares.

For two years the Press Club has continued its almost obscure but vital function of spreading word about SJB with surprising efficiency. Calling in scores and writing in game stories and news columns are the two major duties that the members have taken upon themselves. Their purpose is to acquaint the thousands of unfamiliar readers of the local papers with up and coming SJB.

An interest that has always been strong at SJB is photography. Every year growing numbers assemble after school in the darkroom to spend hours developing prized snapshots. This year even Fr. Director got into the act, as Fr. Joseph Mediati, a zealous camera bug from way back, scampered up and down the football field clicking off photo after photo. The club provides the school with a bundle of beautiful shots for every event. The moderator of this important club is Fr. George Pratte.

CALIFORNIA SCHOLARSHIP FEDERATION

In a formal ceremony in September of 1965, SJB received its charter and became a branch of the California Scholarship Federation. Don Waldie was selected as President of the new organization, which shortly enrolled more than a dozen members, students meriting ten points on the CSF scale per semester. The motto and purpose of this club is one of charity, "Scholarship for Service."

NATIONAL

SOCIETY

... Know all men by these presents, that character, scholarship, leadership, and service are cardinal qualities worthy of encouragement in all schools ... These are the idealistic goals of those SJB students who have achieved a "B" average in their subjects, are in good standing with school regulations, and are active in the National Honor Society.

FORENSICS

A valuable asset and a source of genuine pride on the SJB campus is the promising Forensics Team. Formed only this year, the group achieved amazing results in its first meet, placing third in a sixteen school field at Cantwell. To many assemblies during the year Fr. Dan's polished speakers added appreciable culture with a variety of renditions. In recent Lions Club competition, Senior Roger Repohl took first place and Don Waldie took third in their respective divisions.

First in spiritual significance among all the clubs at Bosco are its sodalities. Pictured here is the Blessed Sacrament Sodality, which is a group composed of the freshman members of our school.

This sodality is formally established in the school, and acceptance into it follows a period of careful screening by the Moderator and other co-workers.

Sodalities are the moral uplifters, the religious spearheaders at Bosco. Sodality membership is likened to a second reception of the Sacrament of Confirmation, whereby one is strengthened and made fearless to give good example consistently, to receive and get others to receive the Sacraments frequently.

Bosco's Sodalists are the spiritual leaders of tomorrow!

The Saint Dominic Savio Classroom Club was founded on March 5, 1950, by the Salesians of St. John Bosco, in the United States of America. The club was organized to present the life and virtues of St. Dominic Savio to American youth of the elementary and junior high schools of the United States. In over 4,000 Catholic elementary and junior high schools in this country, 500,000 school children have pledged to live their lives in imitation of St. Dominic Savio and to practice purity in word, deed and thought.

Units have been established in all the states of the Union. Programs of religious, athletic and social nature have been organized. Through these programs, children are encouraged to love and practice virtue, to live and work with one another, to love prayer and to receive the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist often.

The Bosco chapter of the Savio Club was just established this year, under the leadership of Brother Hank Tavera. We know that the club will live up to its expectations and will become a worth while and beneficial organization on the Bosco campus.

SIDENCE

The acquisition of the lovely, isolated home adjacent to the southwest corner of the school has led to the conception of the Salesian Junior Seminary of Southern California. Five seminarians resided in the spacious house while attending SJB this year, and under the guidance of Father Flac completed the experiment successfully and paved the way for future plans.

Father Malloy, Provincial, chats with Mike Baldwin and Vernon Waggoner, two seminarians in the new Salesian Junior Seminary.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

Bro. Larry Mullaly laid solid foundations for a long-awaited Drama Club this year, as his two productions won immediate acclaim. The goals of this club, as well as its efforts, are indeed sincere: first, to communicate the message of the play, that people learn from the experiences of the actors in the plot, and second, to develop talent.

It has taken the International Club very little time to become an established and active outfit. Open to all students enrolled in a foreign language or who speak one, the club furthers appreciation of foreign cultures, languages, and customs. In addition, the members have made it a tradition to sponsor a Christmas pageant.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

Lettermen's Club Officers: President George Herne, Vice-President Al Lara, Secretary Mike Schulz, Treasurer Larry Stevens, Sergeant-At-Arms Joe Meyers.

The Lettermen enjoy and take the advantage of being the largest and, in manpower, the strongest on-campus organization. To the athletes goes the privilege of being policemen around the school, a title few dare to challenge. At every event the Lettermen volunteer themselves as ushers, as this also gives them a chance to parade. Their service is nevertheless deeply appreciated.

The Pep Club, life's blood to school.

PEP CLUB

A result of the Pep Club's combined effort.

Without a doubt, the Pep Club, under the direction of Brother Jack, was the most outstanding organization on campus for the '65-'66 school year. The club's influence on school spirit stimulated banner crowds and record cheering during the football season, the peak of enthusiasm. The rallies planned by Jim Fenstermaker and Pete Koot were terrific, as were the posters and champ-tags of club artists.

Crowds begin to gather as enthusiasm builds up for an informal pep rally preceding the Verbum Dei game.

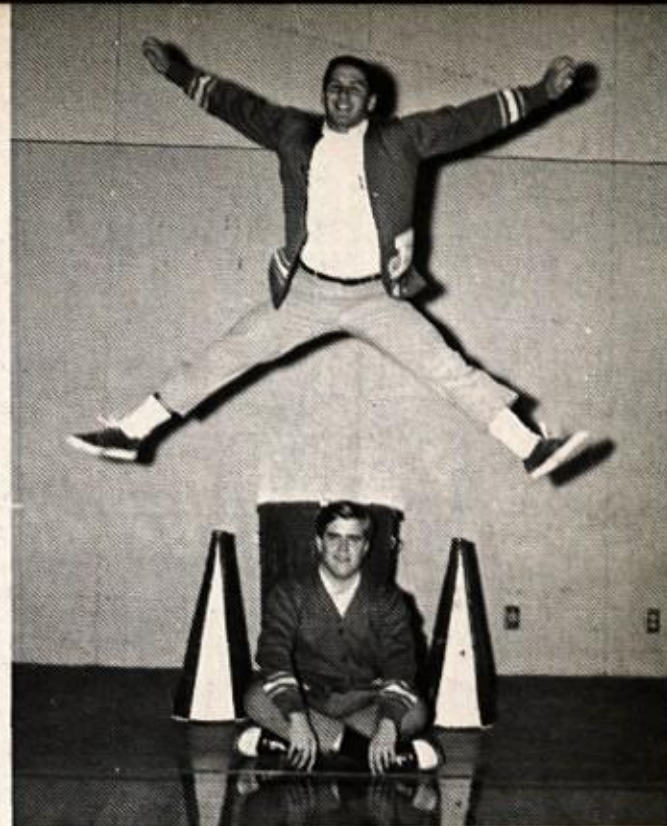

Numbers increase as the cry is raised, "Beat the Birds!"

The charred remains of the Verbum Dei Eagle symbolize a victory for the Varsity in the Homecoming game.

BASKETBALL CHEERLEADERS. High flying cheerleader Bobby Corona leaves Pep Club president and head cheerleader, Ed Lindquist, grounded.

CHEERLEADERS

A good cheerleader indicates a popular or energetic person, according to the example of this year's group. The yell leaders did a tremendous job during football season, as with their "spirit can" they roused record-shattering noise from the ever increasing Bosco attendance. Basketball season produced outstanding cheering also when the cheerleaders led Bosco past all other rooters in the Amat Tourney.

FOOTBALL CHEERLEADERS. Pete Koot and Ray Flores provide the gymnastics while Ed Lindquist cheers from the "spirit can" and Brother Jack Gibson, the Pep Club moderator, grins in approval.

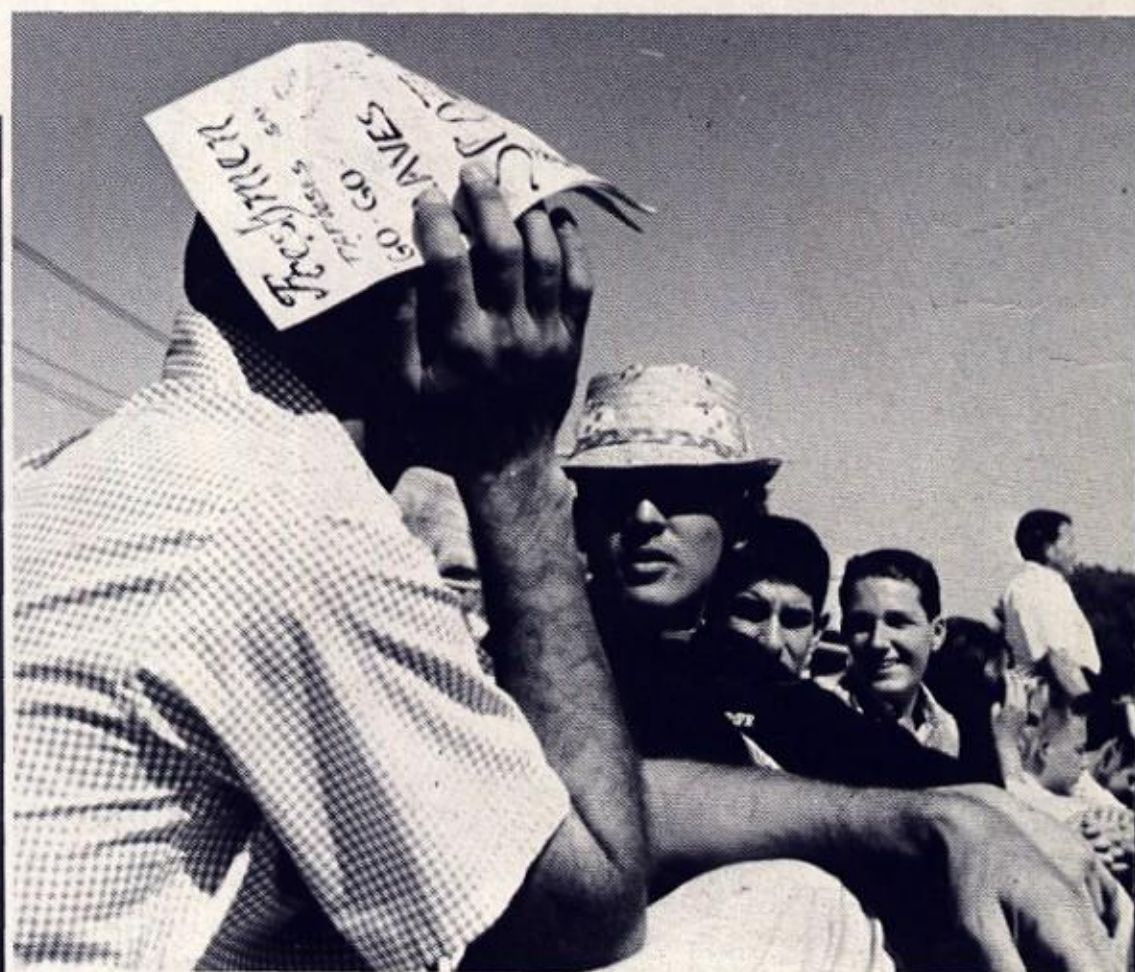

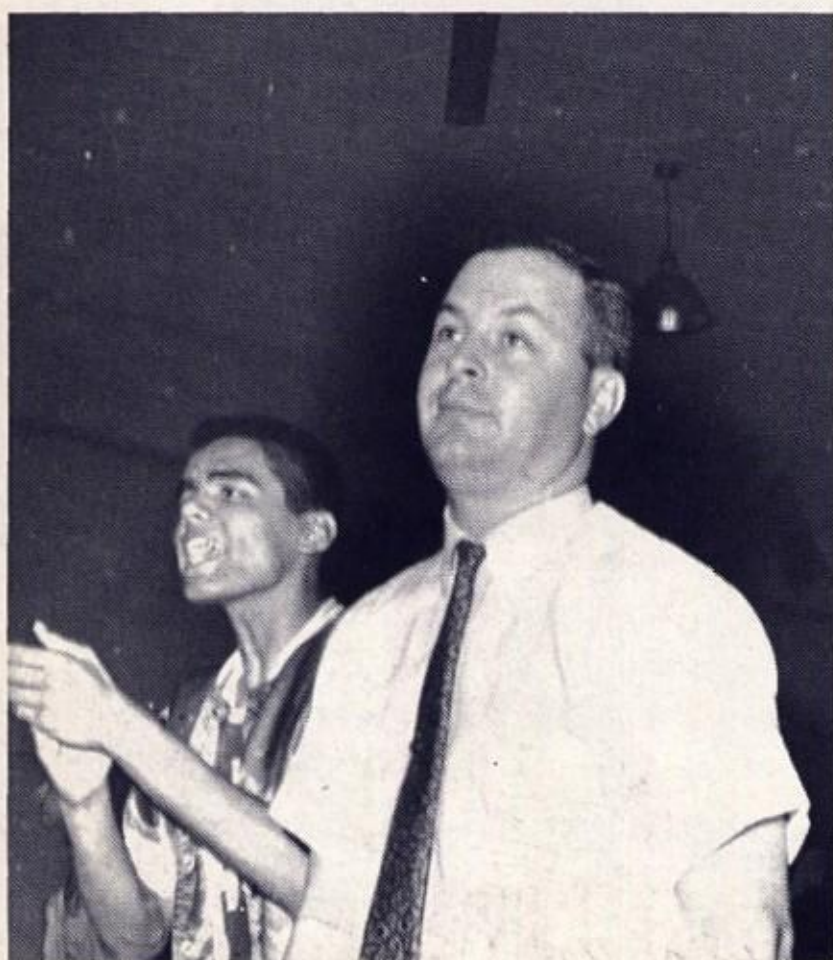

Father Joe Mediatl, very much in evidence at every sports event.

"LUCIFER AT LARGE"

Three months after the school year began, the Drama Club, under the direction of Brother Larry Mullaly, surprised the entire student body by its dazzling production of "Lucifer at Large". With James Fenstermaker and Eric Ramm holding the lead roles, capably assisted by Bill Gaidis, Larry Thatch, and Pat Warren, our thespians forcefully illustrated the unending struggle between God, the Devil, and man. Although the play was only forty minutes in length, its technical precision and acting virtuosity, in the opinion of many, surpassed all productions seen in the last several years. If the Drama Club can continue this tradition in coming semesters, we certainly have something to look forward to.

With cadaverous expressions the cast listens as Lucifer warns the audience of his uncanny ability to enslave souls.

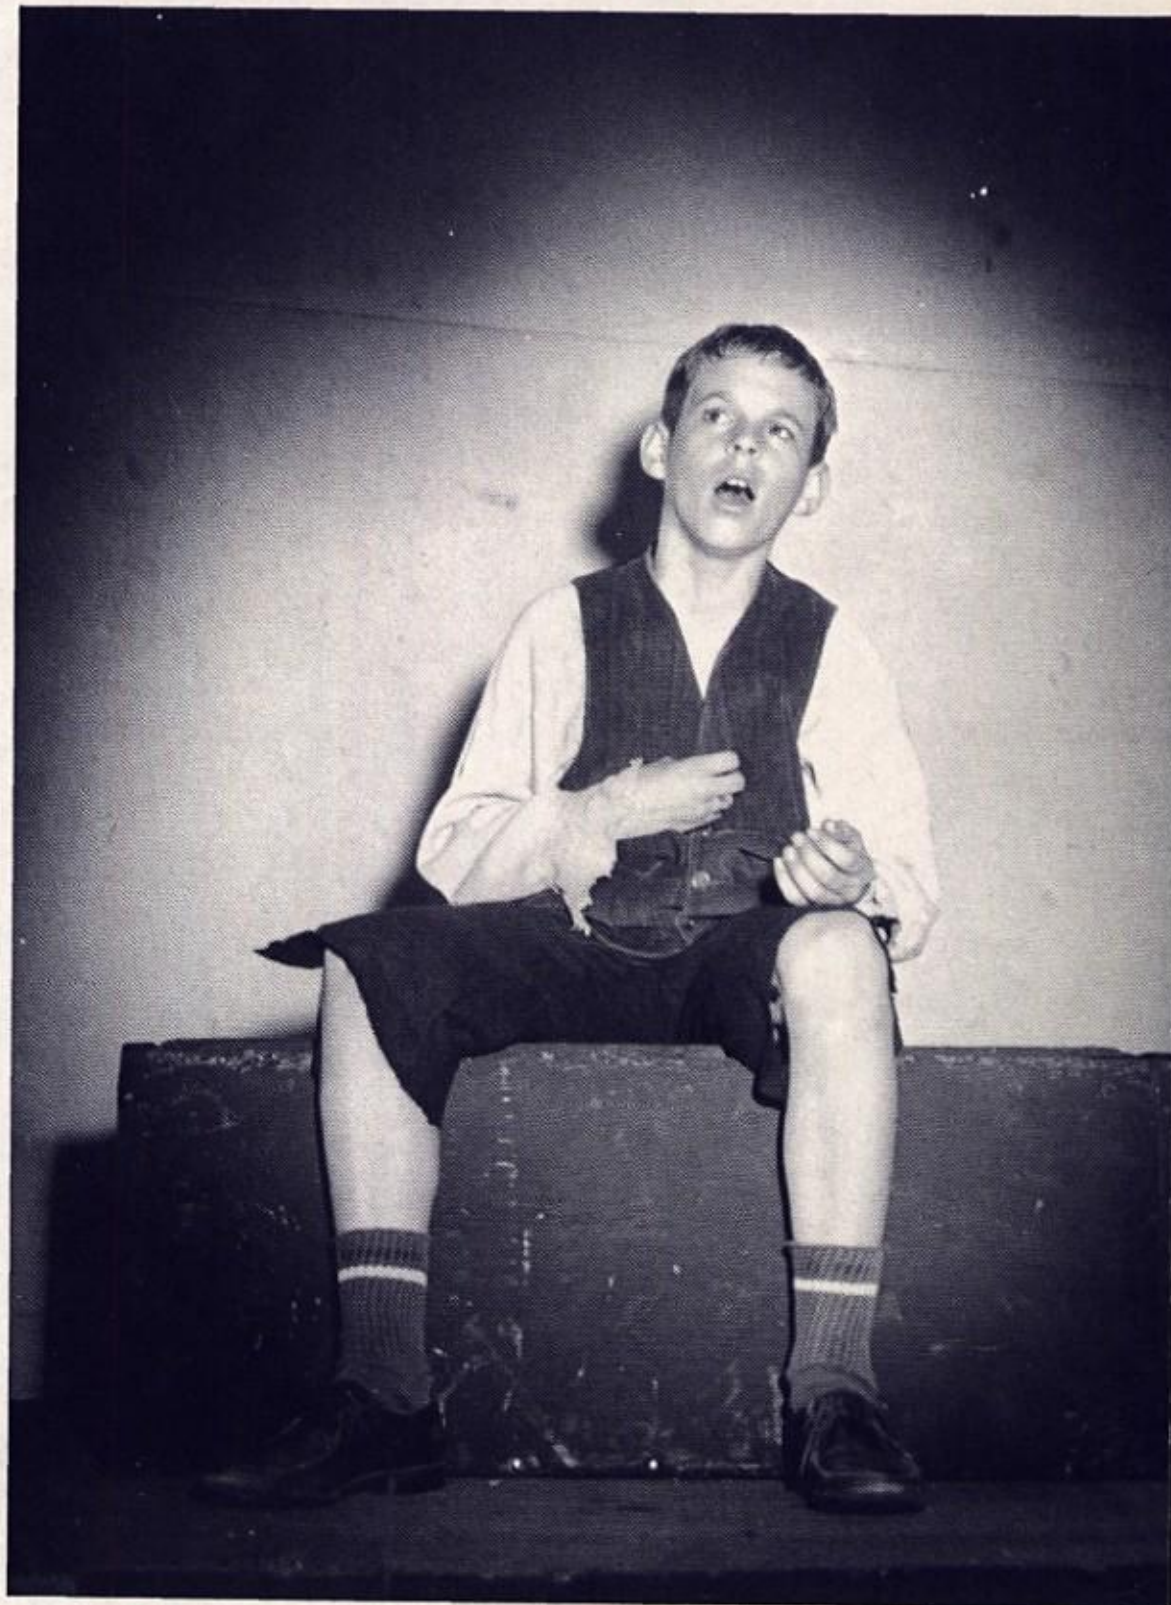

The Devil, Jim Fenstermaker, drops in on Thatch, Gaidis, and Ramm while they are discussing what life should mean to a man.

A TWIST OF OLIVER

The Urchins. In this scene, the little devils dance and sing . . .

Oliver, played by Mark Brush, sings a forlorn song of lost love.

There isn't a wasted word in the Broadway production "Oliver," and its melodies spell a simplicity and purity unique in the theater today. The theme of "Oliver," as the classic Dickens tale suggests, is a boy's search for love. The essence of the novel is captured in Oliver's song, "Where is Love?" and is carried even to the notorious criminal Fagin, who is what he is because he too was never loved. Ironically enough, in our adapted musical sketch, put on by our Little Theater Players on March 18 and 19, 1966, the plot is twisted and the outcast Oliver finds more love among the outcasts than he did in society.

Oliver is given a talking-to by the spindly-legged, cigarette-puffing Artful Dodger, portrayed by Tom Wilson.

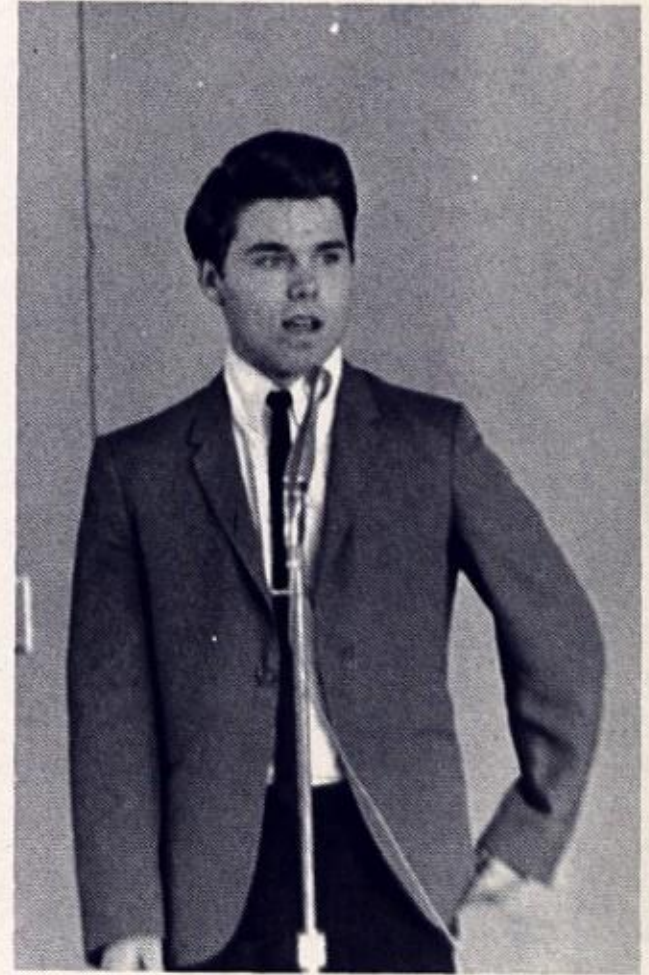

The Dodger snickers while poor little Oliver laughs it right off.

INITIATION

Freshmen congregate after a grueling day in the process of becoming Braves. This Initiation was so well organized that freshmen as well as seniors enjoyed themselves.

HOOTENANNY

"FLIGHT INTO SPRING" FASHION SHOW

Mellow baritone, John Walker, livens the ceremonies during a break in the modeling.

Bosco's newly founded Mothers' Club has become a very active organization. In March it sponsored a fashion show that netted over $2,000 which was quickly donated to the school. This was the first time that such an event has ever been attempted at SJB.

Fashion buffs jam the Golden West Auditorium for the First Annual Fashion Show. The Mothers' Club sponsored event was a complete sellout.
